england's dreaming

Hackney's Transition Gallery is heading to the seaside this August Bank Holiday. Nineteen artists (selected by Cathy Lomax, director of Transition) are showing their work in an arts festival celebrating all things coastal. The event will take place in and around Sea Beach House – a 1930s Modernist property (left) that overlooks the sea. The festival's name – O Dreamland – was taken from the 1950s Lindsay Anderson film based on Margate's Dreamland pleasure park (above right). Alongside exhibitors such as Jonathan Waller (right), there will be films, organised walks and a candyfloss stall.
